

Piece 1:

Hook:

If you've been trying to make real estate wholesaling work for the longest time now, and it's just not playing out how you had imagined, then I've got something for you.

You've probably tried spamming cold calls, driving around looking for run-down houses, and using random lead lists, but everything feels all over the place.

Superhook:

I'm only nineteen years old and am doing over six figures per month with it.

I've got students that have been able to generate over a million dollars in deals altogether.

Lead:

The reason that you haven't been able to reach this point as well has nothing to do with the business model itself.

You know that it works, otherwise you wouldn't be grinding away at it in the first place.

The issue simply comes down to the inconsistent and unpredictable ways that you've been taught to land deals.

Body:

I did the exact opposite by focusing on what I had control over, so that I could do a certain input and get an exact output.

This turns the entire business model into an actual process rather than a coinflip.

I'm hosting a free live masterclass where I'll walk you through these three things:

The first is how to attract motivated sellers rather than chasing them.

The second is how to arrange contracts that leave you with a massive spread .

The third is how to assign contracts to cash buyers on autopilot.

This is how our students are closing $20,000 to $50,000 deals in the first ninety days.

Call-to-action:

It's happening on Sunday the twenty-eighth of June at seven PM Eastern Standard Time.
